

Introduction by course

■ Introduction by course

○ Master's Program

This graduate level program is established to produce talented professionals to meet the social needs about future strategy by employing excellent research and educational competency of KAIST. The demand for excellent individuals has been risen since Korea has become the first mover in researching and developing new science technologies. Therefore, long term (20~30 years) research planning, which exceeds the government reign (5 years), has also been increasing. KAIST Moon Soul Graduate School of Future Strategy offers innovative and superior policy ideas and counsel about future strategy for government department and agencies in Sejong, and provides graduate programs for officials in government and public institutions.

