

Course Introduction

The Graduate Minor in Entrepreneurship and Innovation Program equips graduate students in the sciences and engineering with an entrepreneurial mindset that enables them, based on their knowledge of professional scientific and technological knowledge, to turn research results into businesses.