

Chemical and Biomolecular Engineering

Website: cbe.kaist.ac.kr

Tel: 042-350-3902~4

■ Overview

The Department of Chemical and Biomolecular Engineering at KAIST aims to tackle important life-science and chemical engineering challenges by applying traditional and evolving chemical engineering principles. Chemical engineers are responsible for the design of chemical processes for the manufacture of various types of product. Broadening the area of interest to a wide spectrum of fields, we seek to nurture chemical and biomolecular engineers who can address current social issues including energy, environment, healthcare and improvement of quality of life.