

□ Elective General Courses and Requirements

1. Elective General Courses

If students complete the following courses in the graduate program, credits are given as elective courses.

Classification	Course No.	Course Code	Course Name	L:L:C(H)	Semester	Remark
Elective General Course	HSS581	10.581	Graduate English Writing	3:0:3(6)	spring,fall
	HSS583	10.583	Graduate English Presentation	3:0:3(6)	spring,fall
	HSS585	10.585	Principles and Application of Vision	3:0:3(6)	spring,fall
	HSS586	10.586	Korean1 for graduate international students	3:1:3(6)	spring,fall
	HSS587	10.587	Korean2 for graduate international students	3:1:3(6)	spring,fall
	HSS589	10.589	Introductory Korean for Foreigners III	3:1:3(6)	spring,fall

※ Foreign students are allowed to take HSS586 (Korean1 for graduate international students) instead of taking CC500 Scientific Writing.

2. Descriptions of Elective General Courses

HSS581 Graduate English Writing 3:0:3(6)

The course aims to develop students' academic writing skills such as how to write a sentence, paragraph and essay and different types of essays in addition to grammatical knowledge, including perfect tense, to infinitives vs. gerunds, and modal verbs, essential for academic writing.

HSS583 Graduate English Presentation 3:0:3(6)

The primary objective of this course is to help students increase their confidence and skill in giving presentations in academic situations. This course will train students in English skills necessary for academic presentations. Though linguistic training is the primary purpose of this course, it will also cover non-linguistic skills; body language, eye contact, and appropriate use of voice as well as the use of audio-visual technology for presentation. Throughout the term, we will work on in-class peer evaluation and feedback. Presentation practices will be recorded to be used for self-evaluation and further improvement

HSS585 Principles and Application of Vision 3:0:3(6)

Central to this course is understanding of the principles of human vision in form, color, and depth perception. Knowledge of human visual information processing will be incorporated into structuring artificial visual objects in an ergonomic way. In addition, this course covers issues of psychological processing in aesthetic appreciation of visual objects.

HSS586 Korean1 for graduate international students 3:1:3(6)

This course is designed to provide systematic Korean language instruction to enable the student to speak Korean and to understand Korean culture. In this class, students will learn how to read and write Hangul (Korean writing system) and become familiar with Korean pronunciation. After finishing this class, students will be able to understand fundamental sentence structure and develop a strong command of basic and daily use of Korean.

HSS587 Korean2 for graduate international students

3:1:3(6)

Introductory Korean for Foreigners II is the continuation of Korean I. This course is designed for students who have a basic knowledge in Korean or who have completed Korean I. The class will continue to practice the four language skills acquired in Korean I: reading, writing, listening, and communicative skills. Students will complete the study of basic Korean grammar.

HSS587 Korean2 for graduate international students

3:1:3(6)

This course is designed for students who finished Korean II or the equivalents with a grade of at least a C. The goal of this course is to enhance the knowledge and skills acquired in Korean II and achieve intermediate low level proficiency in the four skills of speaking, writing, listening and reading in modern Korean by the end of the semester.